In organizational behavior and industrial and organizational psychology, organizational commitment is an individual's psychological attachment to the organization. The basis behind many of these studies was to find ways to improve how workers feel about their jobs so that these workers would become more committed to their organizations.

Management's role in shaping organizational culture

The adaptive process requires that organizations move away from status quo. Most organizations, however, are designed as complex systems rather than complex adaptive systems (Stacey, 1995). Complex systems differ from complex adaptive systems in that they are structured for efficiency and control, rather than adaptability (Brown and Eisenhardt, 1997; Eisenhardt and Tabrizi, 1995).
